ORIENTAL MASSAGES

Ancient Oriental practices with which to rebalance body and mind

THAI

Traditional Thai massage, "nuad phaen borarn" in the Thai language, literally meaning touch to heal, was originally a medical massage practised by Thai monks. It is normally done on the ground, in comfortable clothing and without using oil. Thai massage increases blood circulation, helps the cells to free themselves of toxins and frees up energy leaving you feeling active and regenerated.

AYURVEDA

The art of good living

Ayurveda

is one of the oldest natural medicine systems passed down by man, a great gift from India to the world.

The word Ayurveda is made up of the words ayu - life - and veda - knowledge - and it thus means 'knowledge of life' or 'the art of living well'.

In addition to medical sciences, it encompasses elements of philosophy, art and disciplines and offers a complete vision of life teaching us the true essence of human beings and their environments and how to maintain a balance between humans and the universe.

Ayurveda distinguishes between three different life energies (Tridosha), each of which has a different main body location and specific function: Vata, Pitta and Kapha.

Normal Dosha equilibrium corresponds to a healthy state while an imbalance in one of more of these causes illness. Lifestyle, adapting to different seasons, diet and contact with nature are all very important in maintaining Dosha balance and thus health.

Massage also serves to balance Doshas, the main biological principles underlying all human beings, eliminating Aama, physical and mental toxins to generate a positive emotional flow and raise the spirits.

Massage is not only therapeutic but also preventative in the sense that it is a way of interpreting, taking on board and modifying some of the body's messages, slowing down ageing, improving resistance to stress, calming the mind, strengthening the immune system and the body's ability to heal itself, it helps to resolve conditions linked to insomnia, depression, fatigue, the menstrual cycle, digestion and contractions in the spinal column.

UDWARTANA

Udvertana is a purifying treatment which uses vegetable powders such as chickpea flour and ginger and turmeric to eliminate excess toxins leaving the skin smooth and soft. It involves a peeling massaged in with spices specific to Ayurvedic Dosha.

⌚ 50' € 75,00

ABHYANGA

Abhyanga's action is for the whole body, mind and spirit, restoring a balance between the forces which govern the psychological, energetic, physiological and structural levels whose imbalance determines the onset of illness and malaise. Ayurvedic massage acts on the whole body using various manual techniques, stimulation and manipulation accompanied by the use of medicinal oils applied hot.

⌚ 50' € 75,00

ABHYANGA WITH PINDASWEDA

This treatment involves using hot bags left to flow along energy channels, promoting muscle relaxation while the herbs and spices in the bags help to restore tone. Together with the beneficial effects of Abhyanga massage, the use of hot medicinal swabs contributes to extreme relaxation and a profound sense of wellbeing.

⌚ 50' € 80,00

ABHYANGA WITH SHIRODHARA

This treatment encompasses all the benefits of Abhyanga massage with the addition of Shirodara. Hot oil poured onto the sixth chakra induces an even more profound and penetrating relaxation. It is the culmination of the Ayurvedic experience and embodies its all-encompassing capacity to leave tension behind and restore your contact with your deeper self.

⌚ 80' € 110,00

SHIROABHYANGA

It is a very pleasant and relaxing treatment which improves micro-circulation in the scalp. It leads to relaxation and mental lucidity. It fosters quality sleep and releases tensions. It helps to prevent muscle tension headaches.
